Impactful Policy Research in Social Science (IMPRESS)

Research projects, both individual and institutional, are an important strategy to promote Social Science Research in the country. The Impactful Policy Research in Social Science scheme aims to encourage social science research in policy relevant areas so that it could provide vital inputs in policy formulation, implementation and evaluation. The IMPRESS is an initiative of the Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India and is being implemented by the Indian Council of Social Science Research. The basic idea to encourage policy research in social sciences is to have visible impact on polity, economy, society, culture etc. It also aims to have enhanced coordination between academics and policy makers.

Eligibility (in brief)

- All Government funded institutions including universities (central and state), private institutions with UGC 12(b) status and ICSSR Research Institutes.
- Project Director should be a regular employee, possessing PhD degree and have an interest in high quality research. In case of Co-Director(s), they should have proven research interest.
- Retired faculties, retired senior government officials/defence personnel having proven research interests may also apply under the scheme.

How to Apply

- Applications will be invited through advertisements on IMPRESS & ICSSR websites and leading Newspapers.
- Applicants are required to submit an Abstract & a detailed Research Proposal in the given format including details of the Project Director and Co-Director(s) and the budget.

Procedure for Award

- Applications would be initially scrutinised by the ICSSR secretariat for their completeness.
- All the eligible applications will then be sent for blind peer review through computer generated referral system.
- All the short-listed scholars would then be invited for presentation and interaction before the Expert Committee at the ICSSR.
- The recommendations of the Expert Committee would then be placed before the Steering Committee for final decision.

Origin
Indian Council of Social Science Research (ICSSR) was established in 1969 by the Government of India on the recommendation of the then Planning Commission to encourage, promote and fund research in social sciences in the country. It is an autonomous body functioning under the Ministry of Human Resource Development, Government of India.

Objectives
The Council aims to:
- Review and survey the progress of social science research and give advice to its users;
- Support interdisciplinary and multi-disciplinary research and administer grants to universities/colleges, research institutions and individuals for research in social sciences;
- Institute and administer scholarships and fellowships for research in social sciences;
- Provide research funding to 24 Research Institutes and Six Regional Centres to achieve better geographical spread of social science research in the country;
- Give financial support to institutions, associations and journals engaged in social science research;
- Sponsor workshops for training in research methodology and writing skills and provide guidance for research;
- Organize, sponsor and finance seminars, conferences, workshops and lectures;
- Provide international travel and data collection grant to scholars and faculties and develop international collaborations through bilateral or multilateral agreements with various foreign research councils/organisations;
- Undertake publications and assist publication of journals and books in social sciences;
- Provide library, documentation, data and online services for social science research through National Social Science Documentation Centre (NASSDOC)
- Indicate areas in which social science research is to be promoted and adopt special measures for development of research in neglected or new areas;
- Advise the Government of India on all matters pertaining to social science research as may be referred to it from time to time; and take such measures generally as may be necessary from time to time to promote social science research and its utilization.
