The South Asian Journal of Macroeconomics and Public Finance (SAJMPF) invites papers on theoretical and applied Macroeconomics, Public Economics, Public Finance and Public Policy, International Trade, Labour Economics and Environmental Economics. SAJMPF is a peer-reviewed journal published bi-annually (June and December). The journal also welcomes comprehensive surveys and papers on research methodologies. The term 'South Asia' denotes the location of the journal and in no way restricts its domain to the typical South Asian topics of interest. The journal has a very distinguished international editorial board. The bi-annual SAJMPF replaces the India Macroeconomics Annual earlier published by SAGE and hosted at the Centre for Studies in Social Sciences, Calcutta (CSSSC).
